Im enjoying this game, but I got what seems to be close to the end, and it seems to freeze on the screen after you open the chest? On the screen 'You made your selection and slide a key into each lock...' and there is no way to procede... Is this a bug?. This book had my daughter and I floored for the entire weekend. We couldn't wait to find out what the evil warlock looked like and what treasures he kept hidden. We played all of friday night before bedtime and didn't survive our first journey, but we ventured forth again on saturday morning. By 5 in the evening we were finally sitting on the throne of Firetop Mountain together. All in all I am having a blast with this book and my 12 year old girl is as well. She can't wait to try to get her friends into these. We are going to end up getting some of the paper editions that havent been placed on the catalogue. It seems as if you may have a new young fan to spread her love of a new hobby to a younger generation.
